

Application form of the organization
which prepared the report

Date of preparation of the report

Report on living and upbringing conditions of children in the family of the adoptive parents

Full name of the child after adoption

_____

The child's gender

_____

Date of birth of the child after adoption

_____

Date of adoption

_____

Full name of the child before adoption

_____

Date of birth of the child before adoption

_____

Full name of the adoptive parents, their age

_____

Place of residence of the child and adoptive parents, telephone number

_____

Place of employment of the adoptive parents, telephone number

_____

Full name, position of the examiner

_____

Date of the examination:

_____

Date of the previous examination, examiner

_____

Date of the following examination:

_____

1. Meeting the child's needs.

(Characterize primary needs and how are they met at the time of the examination, specify what has to be done and what has been done (has not been done) of the planned in the course of the previous examination.)

Health: physical development – height, weight, problems, measures taken, annual medical examination, vaccination.

Education: achievements, problems, their conformity with the age, form of mastering of educational programs, kind of educational institution, additional education (specify what supplementary education institutions the child attends).

Ensuring development of the child's abilities: the child's access to games, hobby groups, sports.

Appearance and adaptation to social demands: conformity of clothes with the age, gender, culture, religion, personal hygiene, adequacy of the child's behaviour in different environment, perception of advices of the adoptive parents

Self-servicing skills: ability to dress, eat, solve social and domestic problems.

2. Ability of the adoptive parents to meet the child's needs.

Principal care: meeting the child's basic needs – in food, housing, hygiene, clothes, and medical aid.

Protection of the child: no access to hazardous objects at home, medicines, electrical appliances, gas, etc., assessment of risk of injury to the child both at home and anywhere.

How do the adoptive parents manifest affection, is there a favour required for the child to feel emotional warmth.

3. Family and environment factors.

Family history: influence of family history of the adoptive parents upon the child's life at present – who lives in the house and how it influences the child, changes in the family composition at present and in the past, family values and traditions, nature of relations of the adoptive parents with relatives and between themselves, influence of such relations on the child.

Social connections of the family: with neighbours, acquaintances, contacts of the child with peers, teachers, educators.

Housing.

Living conditions of the family:

total and residential area; housing equipping and amenity; sanitary and hygienic condition – good, satisfactory, unsatisfactory; additional information about living and financial conditions.

Availability of: separate room, bed, play pit, activities, toys, books, day regimen and food/

Employment: who works, employment or unemployment, working hours, employment changes and its influence upon the child.

Income: sufficient or not, how it influences the child, is the child provided with anything necessary (clothes, footwear, domestic textile, toys, school supplies and writing materials), payment for special-purpose hobby groups, schools.

Facilities at the place of residence: educational institutions, cultural establishments, health care institutions, etc.

Conclusion:

1. State what is required to provide (by 3 sections – the child's needs, ability of the adoptive parents to meet the child's needs, family and environment factors) and what is to be done (changed) by the adoptive parents.

2. Necessity of additional assistance and who will provide the same.

Conclusion: Adoption efficiency assessment:

_____

_____
(full name of the person who prepared the report)

Seal

---

Notes:

1. When preparing the report, confidentiality must be ensured.

2. In case of adoption of a child being Russian citizen by foreign citizens, Russian citizens permanently residing outside the Russian Federation, stateless persons, the report is prepared on the application form of a competent authority under appropriate obligations. The report must be accompanied by photos of the child at the time of preparation of the report.